CHRIS ISAAK'S "MR. LUCKY" CD OUT FEBRUARY 24th ON REPRISE RECORDS

"The Chris Isaak Hour" New TV Show to Debut on BIO Channel February 26th

February 19, 2009 (New York, NY) - Getting lucky has rarely sounded so good on Grammy winning singer-songwriter Chris Isaak's highly anticipated new CD "Mr. Lucky," out in stores on February 24th on Reprise Records. Mr. Lucky features 14 tracks filled with the glorious, the ugly and the bad of romantic love. But in this case, bad never sounded so good. From the killer opener, the wonderfully tortured "Cheaters Town" to the concluding and uplifting "Big Wide Wonderful World," Isaak takes his fans on a roller coaster ride on one of his favorite subjects, LOVE.

Isaak, who has an abiding respect for popular music's past with personal heroes like Roy Orbison and Buck Owens, has a clear and vital passion for the here and now - especially on Mr. Lucky. Produced by Eric Rosse, John Shanks and Mark Needham with guest appearances by Trisha Yearwood and Michelle Branch, Mr. Lucky reaffirms Isaak's passion for the music he writes and the commitment to the songs he sings. The CD's first single, "We Let Her Down" has already taken off at radio. "I've been with most of my band (Silverstone) for 25 years now. We never get tired of playing together" commented Isaak. "The truth is anyone who gets to do what I do for a living... well, I really am one of the luckier guys on earth."

With upcoming appearances on The Tonight Show With Jay Leno on Feb 20th and The Today Show on Feb. 26th, Isaak will also be hosting his own TV show "The Chris Isaak Hour" debuting on Feb. 26th with special guest Trisha Yearwood on the BIO Channel. Upcoming guests include Stevie Nicks, Michael Bubl  and the Smashing Pumpkins. "On my show, artists get to talk. On most TV shows, artists are asked one question at the end of the show. I get to share the thrill of performing with great artists like Glen Campbell one week and Michael Bubl  the next...I'm having a blast," commented Isaak.
